FEBRUARY - VOL. 02

FEBRUARY SAFETY TIPS: PROTECT YOUR TEAM WITH TRAINING AND PREP.

REGULATORY & COMPLIANCE UPDATES:

- OSHA Form 300A Electronic Submission. Employers who posted their 2025 Form 300A earlier this month should now prepare for electronic submission of injury and illness data by March 2.
- Ongoing COVID-19 Recordkeeping. While most COVID-19 rules have ended, employers should ensure all case records through early February are accurately tracked and retained.
- New 2026 Cal/OSHA Safety Standards. Updated regulations affecting confined spaces and high-hazard industries are now in effect. Employers should review and update safety policies to stay compliant.
- High-Hazard Enforcement & Education Cal/OSHA continues targeted enforcement and employer education efforts this month, emphasizing proactive compliance in high-risk workplaces.
- Workplace Rights Awareness. Employers should verify that all employees have received the California Workplace Rights notice and that new hires are consistently given this notice going forward.

FEBRUARY SAFETY TIP: PREVENT SLIPS & FALLS

Winter weather increases slip, trip, and fall risks at work. OSHA recommends:

- Keep entrances, stairs, and walkways clear of ice, snow, and water.
- Use anti-slip mats, handrails, and warning signs.
- Encourage proper footwear and clean up spills promptly.

Small steps prevent injuries and keep everyone safe this season!

DOES YOUR WORKPLACE CPR TRAINING MEASURE UP?

Sudden cardiac arrest can happen anytime. OSHA encourages workplaces to provide first aid and CPR training, along with AED access, to ensure employees can act fast.

Trained staff + AED = higher survival chances.

Keep training records and provide regular refreshers.

A prepared workplace can turn emergencies into life-saving action.

Review your first aid plan and ensure CPR/AED training is available and up-to-date.
